UM'S FALL ENROLLMENT SETS NEW RECORD

MISSOULA --

The University of Montana's enrollment reached 10,828 students for fall semester, setting a new University record but staying within the 2 percent growth ceiling set by the state Board of Regents, President George Dennison announced today.

This fall's figure is up 214 students from the previous fall's enrollment of 10,614 and represents a slight increase of 40 students from UM's previous enrollment record of 10,788 students in fall 1991, Registrar Phil Bain said.

"The figures are as we expected and are within the enrollment ceiling set by the Regents," Dennison said, adding that the record-setting enrollment reflects the University's continued attractiveness to students.

This semester's full-time equivalent (FTE) enrollment is 9,323, up from 9,141 in fall 1992. That represents an increase from last fall's FTE figure of 1.99 percent--just below the 2 percent cap on FTE enrollment growth set by the Board of Regents.
